Flying the Coop?

Discussing Cooper Stadium, Forum #1

Dewey Stokes, Franklin County Commissioner; Robert H. Milbourne, president and CEO,
The Columbus Partnership

Moderated by: Linda Logan, executive director, Greater Columbus Sports Commission

Sponsored by:

Before the community can intelligently address the question, "Where should Cooper Stadium land?" a discussion about the Clippers, downtown development and the impact of sports, sporting facilities and sporting events on our Columbus economy seems in order.

A number of years ago, the county began wrestling with what to do with Cooper Stadium, beloved by fans, but the oldest AAA stadium in the nation. Renovate it or move it? Move it where? The County Commissioners hired Convention Sports & Leisure to conduct a community opinion survey about the Clippers and the stadium. Commissioner Stokes will share research findings and help sort out the puzzle that includes Yankee's owner George Steinbrenner, the Columbus

Milbourne

Stokes

Clippers, Franklin County and Cooper Stadium.

And what of downtown? Mr.
Milbourne, where and how does moving the stadium to a downtown location fit into the overall center city development picture? What experiences have other cities had with downtown sports venues that we might emulate or avoid?

Working with every sports franchise, sports facility and sporting event that touches
Columbus, moderator Linda Logan will set the stage for this conversation and put the role of sports in Columbus in perspective.

Don't miss this forum and stay tuned for the proposed sequel: "Where Should Cooper Stadium Land?"

About Us...

CMC firmly believes in the free expression of all ideas and the benefits of an open exchange of information. CMC is non-partisan and takes no positions on issues.

Anyone can join! From the beginning, there have been no barriers to membership and all forums have welcomed the general public. Diversity, both in programming and membership, is one of the many benefits of being involved in CMC. Everyone is welcome.

Each forum is an hour-long program that starts with a brief introduction followed by 25-30 minutes of speaker comments. The final half hour is filled with unfiltered, unrehearsed questions from the audience.

misdemeanor."

"The legislation provides immunity for the business itself; however nowhere in the law does it protect
