FRIDAY, July 22 Sharing a Common Humanity: Implementing Universal Women's Rights

Noon - 1:15 p.m. at The Athletic Club
Anika Rahman, president, U.S. Committee for the United Nations Population Fund

In July of each year since 2002, the Bush Administration has withheld funding for UNFPA, the United Nations Population Fund, despite Congressional allocation. The decision whether to fund the UN agency will be made again this July. According to UNFPA, the US contribution would actually prevent 2 million unwanted pregnancies, 800,000 abortions, 77,000 infant and child deaths and 4,700 maternal deaths. It is an element of our common humanity that we were all born by the labor of a woman. Shouldn't we honor that woman? Shouldn't we, the human race, honor women by actively working to change the tragic statistics that we face today - with a woman dying every minute in childbirth - than shrug and say it is too complicated?

Broad & High: The Downtown Evolution Continues

Bill Riat, president, Casto

Broad and High is an exciting new, mixed-use development on the northeast corner of Broad and High Streets that will transform Columbus's historic downtown corner into an exciting, dynamic hub of activity.

In addition to the new, luxury condominiums of 8 on the Square, development plans include street-level retail, "Class A" offices, an array of stunning, scrolling, lighted digital ticker tapes, billboards, parking garage and gardens atop the four-story building that fronts this major intersection, creating a vibrant atmosphere like that enjoyed by New Yorkers in Times Square.

Bill Riat will take us on a unique tour of the project with a stunning visual presentation and explain how 8 East Broad Street will become 8 on the Square - downtown's most prestigious address!

CMC on Site at North Bank Park & The Scioto Mile

Friday, July 15
7:30 - 9:00 a.m.

North Bank Park is part of the Scioto Mile network of downtown parks and is seen as a key component of Mayor Coleman's plan to revitalize downtown Columbus. This park is the first of what will be a number of significant park improvements in downtown Columbus. The park will celebrate its grand opening on Saturday, July 16.

Walking and cycling trails, a boat dock, and an interactive fountain for children are just a few of the features the park will offer. Signs with stories of Columbus history and stone veneer on the park walls made from actual stone from the Ohio Penitentiary are only two elements that make the North Bank Park unique.

For our Friday morning CMC on Site event, we'll be joined by Keith Myers of Myers Schmallenberger Inc., one of the firms who designed the park. He'll discuss the project from concept to completion, WaterFire and what role both play in downtown revitalization.

Tickets are $10 for members, $15 for guests. Accommodations are limited by venue restrictions, so make your reservations early!

Lazarus Building Renovation as Green Building Begins City's Legacy of Environmental Stewardship

CMC Members Max Moore and Stephanie Tresso after the forum

"We're going to put a gray water system in and we're going to flush every single toilet in the facility with rain water captured from the roof so that we're not using the potable water. As you might imagine, it costs a lot of money and requires a lot of energy to produce a gallon of water."

"The mayor wants to leave a legacy here in Columbus of environmental consciousness by addressing certain environmental issues. Frankly, we have not really done that in Columbus very well."

Mike Schwarzwald, City of Columbus

"The other use of the building will be for retail because we believe it is appropriate that where Lazarus had its front door for nearly a century that we will once again have retail on that site."

Larry Fisher,
Columbus Downtown Development Corporation
