Franklin County Commissioner Debate

Dewey Stokes

Marilyn Brown

On Tuesday, November 7, Franklin County voters will be asked to cast their ballots in the County Comm-issioners race.

The new Huntington Park on the horizon for the Clippers, Vet's Memorial future in the balance, a new courthouse on the drawing board, over crowding in our jails, and hundreds of other issues involving the health and wellbeing of our county, the candidates have a lot to talk about.

What's at stake

As the chief administrative body of Franklin County Government, the three-member board of commissioners sets the strategic direction, fiscal priorities and management practices of one of the largest counties in America. With an annual budget of $1.25 billion, the commissioners are vital community partners who work collaboratively to preserve the high quality of life that makes Franklin County a great place to live and work.

Franklin County Government is well known for its expert leadership and continues to be recognized nationally for sound financial planning and overall management practices. Franklin County recently earned AAA bond ratings from Moody's Investors Services and Standards & Poor's for the tenth consecutive year. These ratings place Franklin County in the top one percent of counties in the nation. Franklin County is also recognized as one of the best managed counties in America in a study conducted by Governing Magazine and Syracuse University. In a five-tiered evaluation of overall management, only four counties in America received scores higher than Franklin County. (Source: Franklin County website)
