A Conversation with Carl Kohrt

CHASE Excellence in Leadership
Presented in Partnership with Leadership Columbus
Carl Kohrt, President, Battelle
Guest Host Gail Hogan, RMA Reputation Management Associates

Title Sponsor JPMorgan Chase
CMC and Leadership Columbus' Chase Excellence in Leadership series has offered great insights into the leadership of Jerry Jergensen, Phil Urban, Ray Miller and Karen Hollbrook. Our conversation with Carl Kohrt will be equally intriguing. Don't miss it!

Carl Kohrt became Battelle's president and CEO in October 2001 after a distinguished 29-year career at Kodak in Rochester, New York. He served in numerous senior executive, international, and technical positions throughout his Kodak career - including Executive Vice President and Assistant Chief Operating Officer, Chief Technology Officer, Vice President and General Manager of the Health Sciences Division, Director of the Photographic R&D Laboratories, R&D Manager, Project Manager, and Research Scientist. Kohrt retired from Kodak in July 2000.

Upon hiring Kohrt the Battelle Board of Directors recognized that he would be an outstanding choice to lead Battelle into the future, because he has a great blend of science and technology, business, R&D management, and commercialization skills. In addition, they noted that he has vast experience across commercial and government markets and a strong track record of bringing breakthrough products and solutions to the marketplace.

Kohrt came to Battelle with a reputation for a technology and product innovator with tremendous business and global marketplace experience, a people-oriented management style, and a strong community commitment. Knowledge of how to get technology and products to the marketplace was lauded to help advance Battelle's agenda to be even more commercial and entrepreneurial in the future.
