FIRST IN A THREE-YEAR SERIES –
Battelle and CMC Present
Fueling Ohio's Future

The State of Ohio's Energy Future

Dr. Mark Shanahan

Energy Advisor to Governor Ted Strickland

Mark R. Shanahan is the executive director of the Ohio Air Quality Development Authority (OAQDA) and its Clean Air Resource Center. Appointed in 1989, he oversees the management of more than $1.6 billion in outstanding bond issues as well as the Authority's research and special project programs.

In January of this year, Governor Ted Strickland created the position of Governor's Energy Advisor and appointed Dr. Shanahan to the position. In that role, he is responsible for coordinating state agencies' efforts to develop a comprehensive Ohio energy policy and to implement the Governor's order to significantly reduce state agency energy consumption.

Shanahan oversees the work of the Ohio Coal Development Office, one of the nation's leading clean coal technology research, development and deployment programs. Since 1994, he has served as Ohio's Clean Air Ombudsman for small business.

An active member of the Air & Waste Management Association, he is group coordinator for the Technical Council's Environmental Management Group. He is also the Governor's delegated representative on the Third Frontier Commission.

Battelle

The Business of Innovation

With this forum, the Columbus Metropolitan Club is proud to begin a provocative new three-year series entitled "Fueling Ohio's Future, energy, environment and the economy." Battelle is generously underwriting this important discussion about Ohio's energy future. In the six forums each year, we will explore and highlight Ohio's potential as a leader in fueling a new millennium in creating renewable energy sources, new energy sources and new technologies to use current energy sources. What are the social and economic costs and benefits to Ohio as it competes in the race to develop new sources of energy?

This series will provide the community with the opportunity to have a public conversation with thought leaders about their visions for building a new global energy equation

A subcommittee of the Program Committee made up of individuals from CMC and industry experts is convening to develop the format, identify speakers. The Committee members include: Don Beckman, Chair, Vice President & Division

Manager, JPMorgan Chase Bank; Marilyn Baker, Executive Director, 1,000 Friends of Central Ohio; Jim Coleman, Executive Director, Ohio's Tomorrow; Kathy Fox, Executive Director, Ohio Cultural Facilities Commission; Lt. Col. Kathy Lowrey, Executive Officer, 121st Air Refueling Unit/Ohio National Guard; Rick Livingston, Associate Director, Institute for Collaborative Research & Public Humanities at The Ohio State University; Stephen Millett, Ph.D., Founder & Managing Member, Futuring Associates, LLC; Matthew Roberts, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Department of Agricultural, Environmental and Development Economics at The Ohio State University; Brian Williams, Ohio State Director, American Farmland Trust; Lori Marlow, Director of Programs, CMC.

Topics will include such issues as: Ohio's Energy Heritage & Energy Future, global warming, peak oil, alternative fuels, conservation/intelligent consumptions, social goals and public energy policies, among many more.
