From the Front-lines to Home: Reentry, Resources, and Risks for Returning Veterans

Major General Gregory Wayt, Adjutant General, Ohio National Guard

Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts are returning men and women veterans to mainstream society with severe disabilities, who would likely have died in previous wars. Add to this, the increase of post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), a job-starved recessionary economy and reports of National Guard and military reserve members facing job discrimination due to multiple deployments overseas. These and many more reentry challenges face returning veterans after proudly serving our country. General Wayt leads an important, thoughtful conversation about the needs of our brave service men and women.

Battelle's New CEO: Reaching the World from King Avenue

Jeff Wadsworth, CEO Battelle

By Jane Scott, Executive Director Columbus Metropolitan Club

In Columbus we tend to take Battelle for granted. Tucked away on a quiet stretch of King Avenue, Battelle could easily claim to be Columbus's most global – as well as one of its most philanthropic – organizations.

Given Battelle's stature in central Ohio, it was big news last year when Jeffrey Wadsworth was named to succeed community icon Carl Kohrt as president and chief executive officer. Kohrt retired in December, 2008. Regarding Wadsworth's selection, John B. McCoy, Chairman of Battelle's Board of Directors, said: "Over the last few years Jeff has played an instrumental role in developing our organization's global growth strategy by expanding our laboratory

You're Going to do What with City Center? Bold Plans Emerge for City Center

Guy Worley, CEO, Columbus Downtown Development Corporation

Poor City Center. We've all watched in amazement and disbelief as a disappointing story has unfolded for a not-so-long-ago darling of our downtown stage. Try as they might, (and they have tried!) the city leaders have not been able to pull this one out of the ashes, and they have announced that the only ball this Grande dam will be seeing soon, will be the wrecking ball.

You're going to do what with City Center? The promise of downtown parks eases some of the pain, but will this new plan for prime center city real estate really capture the elusive downtown rebirth and resurrection that we all hope?
